Passengers Leave Captive Liner

Near 600 Land In Brazil

Rebels Seek To Keep Cruise Ship

BULLETIN

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A Brazilian Admiral told the U.S. Navy Caribbean commander the liner Santa Maria reportedly will steam back into international waters after discharging her captive passengers at Recife today.

By William L. Ryan

For the time being at least the Odyssey of the Portuguese liner was ended—12 days after she was seized 2,800 miles away in the Caribbean, by Portuguese rebels headed by Capt. Henrique Galvao.

The Brazilian government had not announced what was to be done about the ship after the landing of the nearly 600 passengers.

The liner moved into shore after several tense sessions of bargaining between Galvao and Brazilian authorities.

The 610-foot ship sailed slowly to within 500 yards of a dock. Passengers jammed the rails, waving and shouting. Some cried with emotion at the end of their captivity.

For more than 24 hours the passengers had been within tempting sight of land—about three miles offshore—as negotiations for the landing went on. Some of the passengers had been varying on punishment as rations ran short while the boat equatorial sun beat down upon the ship.

Winter Bears Down On State Again Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter bore down on Illinois again today, threatening central sections with heavy snow and pushing temperatures downward.

The snow rode in on northeast winds ranging up to 25 miles an hour and was expected to accumulate to four inches in a large central area, particularly in the west, by Friday morning.

Temperatures from near zero in the northwest to 5-15 above in south central portions of the state were predicted tonight.

Most of the state warmed up little from this morning's lows. It was 13 in Rockford and Rantoul and ranged up to 20 at Vandalia and 23 at Belleville. Wednesday highs were mostly in the upper 20s and 30s.

Just Pushing Levers—

Chimp Hero Back At Old Job Now

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Writer
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A little hero is back at his old job today—just pushing levers.

The hero is Ham, the chimpanzee who rocketed away Tuesday and was picked up safe and apparently sound a few hours later, 400 miles away in the South Atlantic Ocean.

The day when an American human astronaut first ventures on a similar ride as a beginning to manned travel in space could well depend partly on studies of Ham.

Also upon careful examination of the huge capsule in which he rode, and yards of special taped information holding clues as to how the animal and his rocket actually performed on the daring ride.

Ham was flown back here Wednesday after being fished from the sea. Authorities said physical checkups and X-rays indicated he suffered no ill effects.

Ham was put right back at light workouts for several days in tests of his ability to push levers at the right times and to avoid slight electric shocks.

He had mastered this technique

Will Capture Of Ship Aid Rebels In Fight Against Dictatorship?

EDITOR'S NOTE—Louis Nevin has been chief of The Associated Press bureau in Madrid for 12 years, a post from which he has closely followed political developments in the Iberian Peninsula. Here he discusses the likely effect of Henrique Galvao's seizure of the Santa Maria on the Salazar dictatorship that has ruled Portugal with an iron hand for 32 years.

By LOUIS NEVIN

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Henrique Galvao's seizure of the liner Santa Maria has done the opposition to Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar great and perhaps irreparable harm, reliable political observers in the Portuguese capital say.

Reaction against those who seized the ship has been strong both in Portugal and in her overseas territories.

The government apparently feels its case is so strong it can sit back and let the United States or Brazil handle the affair.

Dr. Ramiro Valadeo, chief of the government's press services, told a news conference Portugal would let any intervening power handle the case under its own laws. He said his government would not even demand extradition of Galvao and his 70 rebels, even though an officer of the ship was killed in the fray.

Thirty-nine opposition leaders saw fit a few days ago to write President Americo Thomas divorcing themselves from the seizure, which they called an "unequivocally serious act."

Humberto Delgado, the unsuccessful presidential candidate in the 1958 elections who has been living in exile in Brazil, hurt his position gravely at home, observers believe, by assuming responsibility for the seizure, and even more so (Continued On Page Nine)

SAYS GROUNDHOG APPEARED WITH HARVARD DIPLOMA

QUARRYVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Three observers today reported groundhogs came out of frozen holes and saw their shadows, indicating six more weeks of winter according to folklore.

Robert W. Herr, chairman of the slumbering Groundhog Lodge of Quarryville, reported that a groundhog emerged and saw his shadow.

The groundhog was spotted by scout Jack Lefever, one of more than 50 members of the lodge out looking in nearby Colerain Township. With tongue in cheek, Lefever reported that when the groundhog came out of its hole it was carrying a Harvard diploma. (Continued On Page Nine)

Choose Four Jurors In Weger Case

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—Two men and two housewives have been chosen as jurors to weigh evidence and consider the death penalty in the trial of Chester (Rocky) Weger, charged with murdering three women in Starved Rock State Park.

Efforts to complete a panel of 12 jurors were to resume today in the Circuit Court chamber in La Salle County Courthouse. Three days have elapsed in the trial of the 21-year-old former Marine.

He is being tried for the slaying of Mrs. Lillian Oetting, 50. Her two companions, Mrs. Frances Murphy, 47, and Mrs. Mildred Linquist, 50, died with her in an isolated canyon in the park.

Weger, a dishwasher at the park lodge when the three women were slain, has repudiated statements made in November in which he admitted fatally beating the women after an abortive robbery attempt.

Before the first four jurors were accepted Wednesday, defense attorney Robert McNamara leaned toward Weger remarking: "They look impartial to me. How about it?"

Weger answered yes. McNamara told a newsmen his client had ruled out three women who were dismissed on defense challenges.

Seventy-nine prospective jurors had been examined as the third day of the trial ended. The first juror was approved after 58 other persons had been rejected. (Continued On Page Nine)

Widow Charges Firm Bilked Her Of Life Savings

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A 61-year-old St. Louis widow is seeking $100,000 from the Arthur Murray studios here on grounds they bilked her out of her life savings to buy expensive dancing lesson contracts.

Mrs. Gladys C. Foss testified in Circuit Court Wednesday that a supervisor and an instructor from Arthur Murray talked her into buying two life memberships costing $17,000 in 22 days.

Mrs. Foss told the court she became interested in taking dance lessons when she was told over the telephone Dec. 22, 1956, that she had won two free dance lessons.

She testified that after the lessons she was given intensive sales talks on taking more of them. On Feb. 1, 1957, she said, she bought her first life membership.

Mrs. Foss said at that time the studio supervisor, Frank E. Alsip, and an instructor told her she "would be the best dancer in St. Louis" if she took the life membership.

Under further pressure, she said, she signed for a second life membership on Feb. 22, 1957.

Mrs. Foss seeks $50,000 actual and $50,000 punitive damages. A Circuit Court grand jury last year sharply criticized the sales practices of Arthur Murray studios here.

W. Germany Will Pay Billion

Moves To Ease U.S. Gold Drain

By JACK KOEHLER

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany told the United States today it would pay about a billion dollars in a single payment toward easing the drain on American dollar and gold reserves.

The payment proposal was made by Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard to U.S. Ambassador Walter C. Dowling. Neither would say officially what the proposal contained but informed sources said the amount would be about a billion dollars.

Informants said the Germans proposed to pay $587 million as prepayment of their postwar debt, which now totals $787 million. They asked that the remaining debt be cancelled as settlement for German assets seized in the United States during World War II, informants said.

The West Germans reportedly offered to increase arms purchases in the United States from $250 million to $350 million this year. Of this total, $250 million would be prepaid. The German offer also is reported to include a willingness to increase military orders already contracted for by (Continued On Page Nine)

JFK, Macmillan To Confer In Capital April 2

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will confer here the week of April 2. Announcing this today, the White House said a round of informal talks is planned.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger issued this statement: "The President has invited Prime Minister Macmillan, who is making a trip to the Federation of the West Indies, accompanied by Lady Dorothy Macmillan, to stop in Washington during the week of April 2 for informal talks."

"The prime minister has accepted the invitation. The President is pleased that an opportunity has presented itself to become acquainted with Mr. Macmillan and for a general discussion of world problems."

Salinger said details regarding the meeting will be announced later.

This will be Kennedy's first round of talks with another head of government since he took office.

Among subjects likely to be discussed is the possibility of a summit conference of Western leaders with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The administration has indicated a go-slow approach on this matter. However, Macmillan in the past has been an advocate of summit conferences.

Earlier reports from London had indicated Macmillan planned to fly here late next month, or a little earlier than the schedule finally set up.

Either date, however, would preclude a Kennedy-Macmillan conference in advance of the possible visit by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to the United Nations session opening in New York March 7.

There had been speculation the two might want to get together before meeting the Soviet leader, the rebels.

Say Kennedy Deeply Concerned At Congo, East-West Relations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Kennedy administration officials were reported deeply worried today about a possible breakdown of United Nations peace efforts in the Congo and the development of a dangerous new East-West crisis there.

The threatening emergency in Africa is one of those President Kennedy evidently had in mind Wednesday when he told his news conference, in discussing U.S. military strength in relation to world problems that "the situation grows more serious."

Kennedy said: "The Chinese Communist strength increases," the intervention by the Communists in these critical areas which I mentioned has grown greater, and therefore we have to consider whether in the light of this conditional threat, the strength we now have, not only our nuclear deterrent but also our capacity for limited war, is sufficient."

The critical areas Kennedy mentioned were Laos, Cuba and (Continued On Page Nine)

Laos Pro-West Troops Claim Major Advance

By RENE-GEORGES INAGAKI

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Prince Boun Oum's pro-Western government today claimed capture of the strategic Pou Khoun road junction and said its forces of about 900 men was pushing east toward the Plain des Jarres, stronghold of the pro-Communist rebels.

There was no confirmation from the front of the claim, announced by Information Minister Bouavang Norasing. Newsmen heard it with some skepticism since Bouavang had announced the fall of Vang Vieng to government forces days before it occurred.

Bouavang said Pou Khoun fell this morning to a column of 300 men who had pushed south from Luang Prabang, the royal capital. He said shortly after they were joined by a force of about 600 men headed by Col. Oudon Sananikone that had been advancing north from Vientiane.

The minister said the linkup had cleared the entire Vientiane-Luang Prabang highway of rebel concentrations.

Bouavang also made a new claim that the rebels had gotten troop reinforcements from Communist North Viet Nam, bringing the total North Vietnamese battalions in Laos to 11. As usual, there was no confirmation and Western diplomats and correspondents doubted the claim.

Education Minister Nhouy Abhay, speaking for the government, admitted several days ago the government has no proof of the invasion from North Viet Nam. He said the government by deduction is certain there are certain North Vietnamese elements with the rebels.

Gray said the "long term economic outlook, as a result of several pending projects, is favorable for Southern Illinois, but right now, we need some immediate help."

Price said "the use of the term distressed area is unfortunate, but we do have a large surplus. It would be even larger if so many people hadn't left the area to look for jobs."

RAZE PRISON
PARIS (AP)—The jail where Capt. Alfred Dreyfus served time before he was cleared in France's scandal of military espionage and anti-Semitism at the turn of the century is being torn down. The Cherche Midi Prison, built in 1853, is being demolished to make way for a "house of the sciences of man" which will be equipped by the Ford Foundation.

HIGHLIGHTS OF PRESIDENT'S NEWS CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here are key quotations from President Kennedy's news conference Wednesday:

"The restrictions recently imposed on travel abroad of dependents of service personnel will be lifted as soon as the necessary detailed arrangement can be made."

"There are going to be set up five pilot projects for food stamp distribution... These will be in areas of maximum, chronic unemployment."

"The Veterans Administration has been instructed to speed up the payment of the national insurance dividends. We are going to try to pay it out this winter in order to assist the economy at a critical time."

"In order to lower the cost of housing credit and stimulate that sector of the economy, I have directed the Federal Housing Administration to reduce the maximum permissible interest on FHA-insured loans from 5% to 4% per cent."

"I have no idea whether Mr. Khrushchev is coming to the United States... Therefore, I think it would be appropriate to wait in regard to what plans we might have in our seeing him..."

"If a well known high ranking military figure makes a speech, I think that the people and the countries abroad have a right to expect that that speech represents (Continued On Page Nine)

Soon Move Of Finger Can Destroy Nations

(Editors Note: The following story was written by Ben Price of The Associated Press Washington bureau. Price frequently writes on military affairs.)

By BEN PRICE
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Warfare is now nearly at the point where one man by the simple push-button of a finger can destroy nations.

This possibility is no longer a dream. For purposes of practical consideration it became a reality at 11 a.m. Eastern Standard Time Wednesday.

At that precise moment, the Air Force touched off a slender, three-stage missile, the Minuteman, which is designed to span 6,300 miles in less time than man can shave, shower and dress.

In its initial test at the missile range here, the Minuteman, trailing streams of bright flame, traveled more than 4,000 miles. For a research vehicle, the launching was undoubtedly a success.

By its very success, however, Minuteman brought the United States face to face with a question it is going to have difficulty ducking.

Does this nation want these things scattered all over the front

Asks Hike In Old Age Pensions

Plans Mean Faster Federal Spending

By Sterling F. Green
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today handed Congress a sweeping anti-recession program built on faster federal spending, higher old age pensions and an emergency extension of unemployment pay.

Kennedy's tightly-packed 7,500-word special message brought the news that joblessness rose by 900,000 in January to a total of 5.4 million.

The President said he would submit further proposals to Congress within 75 days if business does not improve.

His message spoke of the general expectation that there will be "minor improvements" in business this year. But he added "speaking out of realism, not pessimism, we cannot rule out the possibility of further deterioration if we fail to act."

Kennedy predicted his economic proposals would "abate the waste and misery" of unemployment and "restore momentum to the American economy." He said they would not, by themselves, unbalance the $80.9-billion budget unveiled last month by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Yet Kennedy did not provide Congress with cost estimates of any of his proposals today as he:

1. Called for quick approval of higher social security benefits for some 4½ million Americans, including a $10 boost in the minimum monthly pension; a two-step, (Continued On Page Nine) law, thereby setting the United States up as a prime target for surprise attack?

By the same token this successful leap toward the age of true push-button warfare bespeaks the beginning of a rapid shift in U.S. defense posture which may well have worldwide political and economic repercussions.

Under present Air Force plans 450 of these easily manufactured Minutemen will be buried across the northern tier of states and another 150 will be on special railroad cars by 1964. Ultimately there will be 2,000 on trains and in underground silos.

In warfare the primary objective of any armed force is the destruction of the enemy's armed forces. The so-called civilian targets are secondary.

By placing hundreds of these missile silos in the United States, the nation suddenly finds itself in a position whereby an enemy surprise attack could knock out both military and civilian targets at the same time.

The entire weight of any attack would thus be concentrated against the United States proper. The same thing applies to the Soviet Union but with a difference. The United States has pledged its word that it will never attack any Continuing with his theme that the way to win with any partner is not to lose, Sam Fry points out that the no-trump hand is a most deadly partner.

Sam's no-trump hand is very similar to the type of man I characterized years ago as the "No-trumpist." He believes firmly that some higher power has appointed him to play all hands at three no-trump.

South spent considerable time explaining how unlucky he was to go down three tricks at three no-trump. He pointed out that without the diamond opening he could have afforded to duck two spade tricks, and wind up with four spade tricks, but with the diamond opening and continuation he had to gamble on a two-two spade break.

North happened to be one of those rare individuals who says nothing when his partner misleads or misplays, but if North had chosen to talk he could have pointed out that bridge has certain partnership elements and that after he had bid spades for the second time, South might have pulled himself together and raised him to four spades.

Playing at four spades, North would have had to take the heart finesse, but it would have worked for him and in spite of the bad trump break he would have wrapped up his contract.

DELTA AREA

MASTER FISH CATCHER—Twelve million fish a year should satisfy any angler but for the operators of the Delta Mendota Canal in California's Central Valley it's all catching and no eating. Fish kept fouling the irrigation canal's pumps and the Tracy Fish Collecting Facility was built to keep them out. The canal's waters normally flow north toward the San Francisco Bay area and fish instinctively swim seaward, too. Periodically though, the Tracy pumps at the head of the canal are reversed and water flows south, towards Fresno, confusing the fish who think they're bound downstream with the current. The fish are drawn into huge holding tanks, transferred to tank trucks, carted downstream and dumped at Antioch, near the sea. The U.S. Bureau of Reclamation figures its fish-eliminator savings in hundreds of thousands of dollars.

School District 117 Community News

The amount of homework being assigned to students, especially in the junior and senior high schools is much greater than a few years ago. One of the purposes of homework is to encourage students to work independently. If the student does not develop this ability, he will certainly have trouble in college and will be handicapped on most jobs.

—District 117—

Students should read widely from many sources and many different types of materials, such as, newspapers, news magazines, journals of opinion, bulletins and books. They must be able to retain the information thus gained, organize it into ideas for effective oral and written presentation, and be able to state clearly their conclusions about a given problem.

—District 117—

The school day will not permit enough practice of this type, especially for those students who expect to continue their education in college.

—District 117—

School District 117 covers about 223 square miles, which is just the size in square miles of the city of Chicago. It is 24 miles long and varies in width from 6 to 14 miles. This is one of the larger districts of the state but by no means the largest since there are several with areas exceeding 300 square miles.

—District 117—

Miss Blanche Spall, Dean of Girls at Turner Junior High School, makes a policy of seeing each girl, who is enrolled at the school, during the school year. As part of the general guidance program, she talks with them and makes herself available for counseling sessions to discuss personal or educational problems.

—District 117—

In addition to her counseling duties Miss Spall carries a teaching load, has a homeroom and acts as adviser to the Christian Girls, an organization that includes over 95 percent of all girls enrolled at Turner.

DOUBLE DEFENSE

GLOBE, Ariz. (AP)—Attorney Reull John Pomperoy of Superior appeared before Globe City Magistrate Clyde Shute to arrange a trial date for a client charged with drunk driving.

Shute thought there was something familiar about the lawyer and checked the court records. He discovered Pomperoy had been charged with drunk driving about six months before. The attorney had pleaded innocent and posted bond, but had not stood trial.

So, Shute set the trial date for Pomperoy and his client on the same day. That way, the magistrate explained, the attorney could defend his client and himself at the same time.

Legislature Gets Proposals To Cure State's Financial Ills

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — As the House passed a handful of bills in a brief session, the Illinois Legislature Wednesday received proposals to help cure the state's financial plight.

Both the House and the Senate adjourned until Tuesday. Gov. Otto Kerner has said the state is spending more than it is taking in and workers may face some payless paydays.

Speaker Paul Powell's bill to appropriate $4.1 million for an institution for mentally retarded children at Harrisburg passed the House easily, 160-8, and advanced to the Senate.

Two senators proposed a bill to reinstate the one-cent tax on cigarettes which was intended originally only to pay off the Korean bond.

The bill provides that after late bonus claims are fulfilled, the tax will remain in effect to swell the mental health fund by about $10 million annually. The fund would be the source of money for the Harrisburg institution.

Rep. William Pollack of Chicago, the Republican minority leader, raised the only opposition to the Powell bill. Pollack said it contained $65,000 to pay for land for the institution while Saline County residents had already taken up a collection to buy the land for the state. Pollack said the $65,000 appropriation would set a bad precedent.

In another money-saving endeavor, Pollack had some success. He introduced a bill to transfer $5 million from a state driver education fund to general revenue where it may be used for many purposes. Pollack said state education authorities reported the $3 million remaining in the driver fund would be adequate.

Pollack asked that the bill be advanced to the amendment stage without reference to committee. He succeeded. Rep. George Dunne of Chicago, Democratic majority leader, suggested he may increase the diversion from the driver fund.

Rep. John Morris, D-Chadwick, chairman of the newly appointed House Revenue Committee, raised objections momentarily to the Pollack proposal on the ground there was no haste.

"With a deficit of $40 to $50 million facing us, we cannot jump into this piecemeal piecemeal," Morris said.

"A program is going to have to be worked out," he added, "and the treasury is not going to run dry until April 1."

Rep. Warren Wood, R-Plainfield, served notice he will try Tuesday to amend House rules to set up a standing committee on government economy.

Wood said government is getting bigger and threatens to engulf the individual.

Kennedy Drops Live TV, Radio News Conferences

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said Wednesday night President Kennedy's next news conference won't be carried live on television and radio, but that the live format "by no means" is being abandoned altogether.

"At the moment," said press secretary Pierre Salinger, "the plan is to depart from live broadcasting only for the next presidential conference."

"We are still feeling our way in this whole field—we are still experimenting."

Kennedy's first two sessions with newsmen as President—the one Wednesday and the other a week ago—were carried live on nationwide TV and radio.

Salinger had announced that the networks were free to carry any and all of the conferences on that basis. He had said further that one of the networks, the American Broadcasting Co., had informed the White House that it planned to carry all the Kennedy conferences through February.

He added, the plan for the next news conference is to permit the TV networks to make video tape recordings of the entire session "and go on the air with it the minute the conference ends if they want to."

The White House reportedly hopes the effect of this will be that the networks in some cases will use the tape recording at hours when the audience will be considerably larger than if the conference were broadcast live at the announced news conference hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. EST.

Extend State Jobless Benefits

CHICAGO (AP) — Beginning Feb. 15 additional unemployment compensation benefits will be extended each week to some 2,600 Illinoisans whose normal benefits will have been exhausted.

This was announced Wednesday by Robert W. Johnston, state labor director.

They will receive the extra money for half the number of weeks that they were receiving compensation. The periods for extra benefits will range from a minimum of 5 weeks to a maximum of 13.

Compensation payments normally are allowed for periods of 10 to 26 weeks, depending on the time spent on a job and the amount of money withheld for unemployment compensation while the worker was engaged.

Johnston said that about 315,000 Illinois workers are unemployed. This is about 7.3 per cent of the working force. Of these, 178,393 or 5.6 per cent are covered by the Unemployment Act under provisions of an amendment passed by the General Assembly in 1959.

The additional payments will begin Feb. 15 and will be the first since the amendment of the act to combat a recession.

The act provides that payments will be extended automatically if the rate of unemployment reached 4.375 per cent of the total number of workers covered by the law for two successive months.

In the last two months this percentage was exceeded. There are 2,600,000 workers covered by the act. As long as the 4.375 per cent mark is exceeded claimants whose payments normally would end will receive the extra benefits.

Johnston said he feels the claim load will not drop substantially to bring up a quick end to payment of additional benefits. This time of year, he explained, is unfavorable for a fast recovery of industry. Many firms laid off help for inventories and cold weather cut down the outdoor construction forces.

In the week ended Saturday there were 178,393 claims for jobless benefits filed. Of the total 22,534 were initial claims. This represented an increase of 1.2 per cent in total claims and 11.7 per cent in new claims from the figures of the preceding week.

SANTA MARIA CREWMAN RETURNS: Jose Da Silva, crewman of the hijacked Portuguese liner Santa Maria, is greeted at Lisbon, Portugal by his wife (R) his mother, and another unidentified relative who kisses his hand. Da Silva and five other crewmen, who were put ashore by the Santa Maria rebels at Santa Lucia with wounded members of the crew, arrived by plane from Guadeloupe in the West Indies. One of the group said most of the rebels were youngsters of 17 and 18 who spoke Spanish.

Stevenson Supports Hammaraskjold In U.N. Congo Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold asked the U.N. Security Council Wednesday for authority to take the Congolese army out of political conflicts threatening the Congo with civil war.

He made the request after Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, in his first speech as U.S. delegate, said the United States applauded the council's efforts to help the Congo's orderly transition to real independence "through the secretary-general."

Stevenson called also for adequate financial and moral support for the secretary-general, long under attack from the Soviet bloc. He also urged that the council "avoid useless recrimination."

Earlier, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin, joining in a round of welcoming speeches, hailed Stevenson as a champion of international collaboration and proposed "a patient search for mutual acceptable solutions."

He expressed hope that with Stevenson at the council representing the Kennedy administration, the council "will be able to discharge its duties much better than unfortunately has been the case up to now."

Stevenson's remarks were made in a answering the welcoming speeches—a council formality before Hammarskjold launched the actual Congo debate.

Hammarskjold declared the recent transfer of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba to Katanga Province seemed to have widened the rift between Congolese authorities in Leopoldville, where Kasavubu is paramount, and those in Oriental and Kivu provinces, where Lumumba's supporters hold sway.

He told the council the army had split into separate units taking sides in this conflict and itself "has been and continues to be the main threat to law and order in the Congo," the objective of the U.N. force there.

"I would welcome a decision by the council," he said, "requesting the secretary-general to take urgently appropriate measures for assistance in the reorganization of the national army, preventing it, or units thereof, from intervening in the present political conflict in the Congo."

He noted that under decisions of last summer, the U.N. force was to help in reorganizing the army and also to keep law and order in the Congo and guard against outside interference.

"Civil war would indeed, in my view, be unavoidable," said Hammarskjold, "if the United Nations forces were withdrawn under present circumstances."

Deny Report K Tied Conditions To Fliers Release

WASHINGTON (AP) — Authoritative sources Wednesday night denied a published statement that Soviet Premier Khrushchev attached three conditions to his release of the two U.S. RB47 fliers last week.

The news magazine Time said Khrushchev's conditions were that there be simultaneous announcement of the release of the fliers, that the United States must ban U2 flights over the Soviet Union and that the United States must not exploit the fliers' release for propaganda purposes.

Official informants in a position to know the background, but who asked not to be named, gave a different account.

They said there was an agreement with Moscow not to announce the fliers' release until the men were out of the Soviet Union. However, they described this as not a condition set by Khrushchev but rather a matter of procedure which had been followed in other cases.

Discontinuance of the U2 flights had already been ordered by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower last May. The U.S. ambassador in Moscow, Llewellyn Thompson, reiterated this policy in his talk with Khrushchev preceding the fliers' release. President Kennedy said last week continuance of this policy was not a condition for the release.

The informants said there was a mutual understanding by both countries that the release would not be handled in such a way as to inflame U.S.-Soviet relations. But here again they said the general understanding was not a condition set for the fliers' release.

UNEMPLOYMENT RISES IN ILLINOIS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Manufacturing employment dropped sharply in Illinois during 1960 and was far below the peak levels of 1956, the State Labor Department reported Wednesday.

Director Robert W. Johnston, in the department's year-end report, said unemployment totaled more than 251,000 in November as contrasted with 205,000 in November 1959.

An average of 3,416,000 workers were employed by Illinois non-agricultural establishments in 1960—about 10,000 fewer than the 1959 average and approximately 80,000 fewer than the all-time 1956 record.

Democrats Elliott, Sisk Named To Rules Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Democrats who have a record of voting for most types of legislation that President Kennedy favors were tapped Wednesday for membership on the House Rules Committee.

They could fill two of the three new posts created in the key committee under a resolution approved by a narrow 217-212 House vote Tuesday.

The Republicans will fill the third place. Administration forces hope that by enlarging the committee to 15 members, in place of the previous 12, they will be able to command an 8-7 majority on most issues.

Heretofore the committee has often been dominated by a Republican-Southern Democrat coalition that has delayed or blocked some major social-economic measures.

The Rules Committee determines what bills approved by other committees will go to the House floor for action, and in what order. It also sets the terms under which they will be considered.

Sisk expressed general agreement with the program outlined by Kennedy, but said he could not pledge himself "to vote pell meat" for every measure in what ever form it might be presented to Congress.

While Elliott has backed many of the measures the Kennedy administration is expected to advocate, as an Alabamian he likely would oppose civil rights legislation which the White House might propose.

However, his vote on that issue might not be crucial. In the past, Republicans on the Rules Committee have voted with Northern and Western Democrats to clear civil rights measures for floor action.

the Congo. The Communist bloc has been furnishing arms to Cuba and the United States has charged the Soviet Union with airlifting arms to pro-Communist rebel forces in Laos.

In recent days there have been persistent reports from the Congo that the Soviet Union and the United Arab Republic were delivering arms to forces backing imprisoned former Premier Patrice Lumumba against the shaky government of President Joseph Kasavubu.

These reports are a main source of apprehension here that the Congo civil conflict could quickly develop into an East-West struggle similar to that in Laos. Such a development would confront the United States and its allies with a decision whether to intervene directly on the side of the Kasavubu government.

GRAINS MAINTAIN SMALL PLUS EDGE

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market maintained a small plus edge generally today in a mixed trade.

Brokers said profit taking had limited bulges in soybeans but that short covering and investment buying were resisting any broad selling drives.

Transactions were rapid, however, and dealers said they apparently were toward consolidating positions after the broad setbacks and advances of the two previous sessions.

Commercial factors were generally negligible in all pits.

Shortly after noon, wheat was unchanged to 1/2 cent a bushel higher, March $2.14 1/2; corn 1/4 1/2 higher, March $1.15 1/2; oats 1/4 1/2 higher, March $1.21 1/2; rye 1/4 1/2 higher, March 66 1/2 cents; soybeans 1/4 1/2 higher to 2 1/2 lower, March $2.67 1/2.

Soybeans slipped shortly before the finish and closed 2 cents a bushel lower to 1/2 higher, March $2.64 1/2-65; wheat 3/4 to 3/8 higher, March $2.14 1/2; corn 3/4 to 1/2 higher, March $1.15 1/2-16; oats 3/4 to 1/4 higher, March 67; rye unchanged to 1/2 lower, March $1.21.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market pushed further ahead in active trading early this afternoon as President Kennedy gave Congress a sweeping anti-recession program.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .50 at 235.80 with the industrials up 1.00, rails off .10, and utilities up .40.

The noon reading of the AP average equalled the historic closing peak made Aug. 3, 1959. In recent sessions Standard & Poor's 500-stock average has made successive all-time highs but the Dow Jones industrial average has remained well below its record closing high of 685.47 reached Jan. 5, 1960.

The advance was spotty. Autos were unchanged to lower. Rails chemicals, airlines, and rubbers were mixed.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.48 at 650.87. Corporate and U.S. government bonds showed an irregular upward trend in uncertain trading.

Says Fellow Gangsters Told Him Of Killing

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A convict testified Wednesday in federal court here that two of his fellow gangsters once told him they killed James S. Bullock.

One of the men the witness named took the stand next and denied knowing anything about the slaying.

The first testimony was by Ivan L. Deckard. He said Herbert J. Loris and John C. Daly had once told him they killed the 27-year-old utility firm clerk and part-time St. Louis University student whose slaying more than two years ago is still unsolved.

Deckard and Daly are currently serving prison terms for robbery. Loris was killed in a gun fight with police.

Deckard testified he used the story of the other two hoodlums in an effort to extort money from the victim's widow, Edna Ruth Bullock, on a threat to expose her as having plotted the slaying.

The trial is a civil case being heard without a jury by U. S. Dist. Judge Randolph H. Weber. It concerns disposition of $64,500 in life insurance left by Bullock. He did not leave a will.

The St. Louis public administrator and an aunt of Bullock's both have claims on the insurance money. The widow seeks all of it.

Make Tentative Pact On Paper Handlers' Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiators today reached a tentative contract agreement to end a strike of 1,700 truck drivers and helpers that partially disrupted circulation of New York City newspapers and magazines in the metropolitan area.

The agreement is subject to ratification by the strikers, who will vote Friday at 7 p.m. The strike will continue until then.

The strikers are employees of 34 wholesale distributors who handle parts of the newspaper circulation. They are members of the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union (Ind.).

Terms for a proposed two-year contract include a $7 weekly package extended over the term of the pact.

Pre-strike pay for newspaper deliverers was $112.44 a week for day workers and $114.40 for night workers. For magazine deliverers, the day rate was $115.65 and the night rate $117.45.

The strike did not affect the 1,300 members of the same union who are employed directly by the newspapers. A contract covering these men was agreed on in December.

Confirm Bettag For Sanitarium Post In Du Page

WHEATON, Ill. (AP) — Dr. Otto L. Bettag, who resigned as state tuberculosis control officer under pressure, has been confirmed as medical director for the Du Page County Tuberculosis Sanitarium Board.

Bettag, former director of the Illinois Department of Welfare, recently yielded to protests from the administration of Gov. Otto Kerner and gave up the state tuberculosis post, a civil service position in the new state welfare department.

He had been criticized for attempting to stay on in the new administration. Democrats said that Bettag, as welfare director under former Gov. William G. Stratton, established the qualifications for the tuberculosis post for which he was the only applicant who qualified.

The civil service job would have paid him $20,000 a year, $5,000 more than the annual salary of the department chief. Bettag's salary in the Du Page County post wasn't disclosed. He is to assume the new position Feb. 13.

Illinois Traffic Toll Decreases

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — January traffic deaths in Illinois totaled 120, a decrease of 23 from the same month a year ago, the Illinois Division of Traffic Safety said Wednesday.

The division also reported that 1,716 persons were killed in Illinois traffic accidents in 1959, or 79 less than 1958.

By counties, January deaths were: Cook, 38; Lake, 6; Knox, 5; Adams, Jackson and Madison, 4 each; DuPage, Effingham, Montgomery, Peoria and Rock Island, 3 each.

Christian, Fulton, Jefferson, Kane, Kankakee, McLean, Macon, Macoupin, Pope, Vermilion, Wash, Williamson and Winnebago, 2 each, and Alexander, Campaign, Clark, Crawford, Franklin, Gallatin, Hamilton, Hancock, Henry, Iroquois, Jasper, LaSalle, Livingston, McDonough, McHenry, Ogle, Saline and Wall, 1 each.

GROUND HOG DAY HAS SPECIAL MEANING

ALHAMBRA, Ill. (AP) — Ground Hog Day has a special meaning in Alhambra, a Madison County town of 500.

Men of the Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church plan to grind up 40 hogs today in preparation for the church's annual sausage supper Saturday.

The butchered hogs weigh 8,500 pounds on the hoof and will make 3,400 pounds of sausage. Several hundred persons are expected for the supper.

Inducted Thursday

Gerald Wright, left, and Delmar Hoots left Thursday morning by charter bus for induction into the army under the selective service program. The charter bus left Jacksonville at 4:30 a.m. and picked up several men enroute to St. Louis. Both will be inducted at the St. Louis station.

Galva has been holding out for freeing the passengers on his own terms.

The price was that his band of self-styled revolutionists be allowed to keep the ship they seized at sea and be given fuel, food and water to carry on their fight against Portugal's dictator Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

The 20,906-ton luxury liner gingerly straddled the three-mile limit of Brazil's territorial waters off Recife as the rebel leader bargained with Brazilian government officials.

Galva, 65, demanded assurances that the ship would not be interned if it docked — crushing the seafaring revolt he launched 12 days ago.

Brazil's new President Janio Quadros has guaranteed his "old friend" Galva and his 70-odd insurgents political asylum. But Quadros indicated international law might prevent his letting the rebels keep their $16.6-million prize.

Negotiations with the rebels were being directed by Quadros, an unpredictable independent and no friend of Salazar, from Brazil's new jungle capital Brasilia 1,000 miles away.

There were indications that Quadros, 44, might be searching for a loophole in the law to enable him to accommodate Galva and at the same time fulfill his technical obligations to Portugal.

One suggestion was that he recognize a "state of belligerency" between Galva's band and the Portuguese government, a maneuver some sources said would give Galva 72 hours in port to refuel, then permit him to strike out on the high seas again.

Galva refused to tie the ship at the dock. Tugs went out to begin taking off the passengers.

Buses were brought up to take passengers to the Portuguese Club where they could await arrangements for their return home. U.S. citizens in Recife threw open their homes for the 46 or so Americans aboard.

Police kept crowds back from the dock. Other spectators lined surrounding roofs.

Free Icebound Tankers Off Chicago Shores

CHICAGO (AP)—Two rough-riding Coast Guard boats teamed today to free two big oil tankers caught in a thick ice floe off Lake Michigan's Chicago shores.

The 400-foot Subert, outbound from Indiana Harbor, Ind., went on her way after the Woodbine probed a path through the ragged ice field.

The tanker, Detroit, a 300-foot vessel which became ice-locked attempting to reach the northern Indiana port, was later broken loose by combined path-smashing efforts of the Woodbine and her larger sister, the cutter, Arundel.

The Coast Guard said there was no immediate danger to either ship although the crews reportedly were suffering somewhat from the 15-degree cold.

Coast Guard authorities said the Detroit—unlike the Subert—was empty after delivering oil in Racine, Wis. It's lack of weight, they said, made it an easy victim of the ice.

The ice pack, about 10 to 13 miles in width, was the same pack that snarled shipping near St. Joseph, Mich., last week. The Coast Guard said. High winds had driven the pack to the lake's western shore.

Two Coast Guard ships were ordered to the assistance of the Detroit. The Mackinaw, the largest icebreaker on Lake Michigan, left Cheboygan, Mich., and the cutter Arundel left from the St. Joseph area.

Kennedy Regime Faces Key Test In Wheat Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration will face one of its key tests when it seeks to put across new legislation on wheat, generally considered to be the No. 1 farm problem.

It is not clear yet just what program President Kennedy will propose to Congress to ease wheat surpluses which are continuing to mount year by year. But it is clear that a major fight will shape up in Congress on new wheat legislation.

A task force report to Kennedy said wheat legislation early this year is essential. It said this should be passed by May 15 to be effective for the 1962 wheat crop. At his news conference Wednesday Kennedy said a message on the wheat problem would be sent to Congress in February.

The task force report on wheat is patterned rather closely to recommendations made last year by the National Association of Wheat Growers.

This report recommends that wheat production be reduced 25 percent to meet domestic demand and for export and that the difference be made up by drawing on the present huge stocks of about 1 1/2 billion bushels.

The Agriculture Department would then set the price at which wheat would be sold from the government inventory. The effect of this would be to make that the prevailing price on the market. This would eliminate any need of raising the price support level.

The report recommends, along with strict planting controls, that wheat lands taken out of production be put into the soil bank. Under present law wheat is supported at 75 per cent of parity on a national acreage allotment of 44 million acres.

Diben has served as chairman of the Galesburg Commission on Human Relations, as an associate of the American Council of Learned Societies and in national posts with the American Association of University Professors. He helped to found the Illinois Philosophy Conference.

TRY A WANT AD

two-year increase in the $1 minimum wage to $1.15 and then $1.25 an hour; a speedup in federal contract-letting and construction; government aid to depressed areas; federal relief payments for the children of jobless fathers.

Kennedy proposed paying for Social Security expansion by adding another one per cent to the tax on both employers and workers. The increase would go into effect Jan. 1, 1963, along with the rise of 1/4 of one per cent already scheduled for that date.

2. Announced executive actions—beside those disclosed in his news conference Wednesday— to stimulate credit, release $724 million of highway funds to the states at once, and start a quickie expansion of urban renewal, local public works and college housing.

3. Disclosed he shortly will send Congress tax reform proposals to message demanding permanent measures to "revise and strengthen close tax loopholes; and another spur business investment and en" the unemployment compensation system—presumably by setting some form of federal standards for the states—and to extend the coverage to "seven million" more workers in the retail and other trades.

4. Announced he will create a "President's Advisory Committee on Labor-Management Policy" with 21 members drawn from labor, management and the public. This body, whose chairmanship will be alternated annually between the secretary of commerce and secretary of labor, will advise on wage and price policies essential to the curbing of inflation, as well as such problems as automation and economy-crippling strikes.

5. Spelled out details of the moves announced Wednesday—cutting the interest on government-insured mortgages from 5 1/2 to 5 per cent; making early payment—within the next 30 to 60 days—of the $250 million of veterans' life insurance dividends due in 1961; and starting pilot food stamp plans in several areas.

The use of food stamps by needy families will be tested "as rapidly as possible" in localities in six areas—West Virginia, Pennsylvania, eastern Kentucky, northern Minnesota, Southern Illinois, and the Detroit area, he said. (Wednesday, Kennedy said the food stamp plan would be tried in five areas; a sixth area was added.)

Kennedy held out the hope to veterans that they might get another insurance dividend check later on.

He said: "If sound insurance practices justify it, as I hope your study will show, an additional dividend will be paid this year from the substantial funds that have been accumulated."

Kennedy's promise that he would come back to Congress in 75 days "if these measures prove to be inadequate" could imply a request for a temporary income tax reduction.

His task force on economic policy, headed by Dr. Paul Samuelson of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, urged such a course if unemployment reached 7.5 per cent of the labor force.

The January unemployment figure released today represented 6.9 per cent, after allowance for seasonal factors. This was a slight improvement from December's 6.8 per cent, and Kennedy has stated that conditions do not now warrant tax reduction as an economic pump-primer.

The message contained hints that the Federal Reserve Board and the Treasury have reached agreement on policies to be pursued jointly to help reduce the U.S. deficit in international payments.

This is a touchy problem for a lowering of short-term borrowing rates—desirable to combat recession—tends to send capital out of the country to foreign markets where interest rates are higher. Kennedy said he would describe the new government plans in a Congress shortly.

The President's economic policy recommendations and announcements included the following:

Social Security Five improvements in benefits would begin on April 1, if Congress gives quick approval. They would be financed by taxing workers and employers an additional 1/4 of 1 per cent each starting on Jan. 1, 1963, when the next regular increase—of 1/2 cent each—due to take effect.

The five proposals are: Raising the minimum old age pension from $33 to $43 a month; this would help more than 2.2 million persons in the first year.

Permitting men to start collecting retirement pensions at age 62, as women now may do. The pensions would be smaller than are available when payments start at age 65. This would benefit some 600,000 men, and save some men from going on the relief rolls, Kennedy said.

Increasing the widow's benefit from 75 per cent to 85 per cent of the amount of her husband's benefit. This would increase payments to 1,550,000 widows.

Extending disability insurance. Such benefits are paid now only if the disability is expected to result in death or last for a long, indefinite period. Kennedy urged that payments start when the worker has been totally disabled for six months.

Liberalizing eligibility. Pensions may be paid now only if the retired person worked in jobs covered by Social Security in one out of every three quarters since 1950. The proposal would reduce this to one quarter year out of every

Vote Franchise For Natural Gas At Jerseyville

JERSEYVILLE—The Jerseyville City Council following a somewhat stormy session Tuesday evening voted to grant the Central Illinois Public Service Company a 50 year franchise for furnishing natural gas and electricity to residents of the municipality.

Statistical reports based on municipal ownership of natural gas facilities for Pittsfield and other cities in the area were presented by opposition forces to the granting of the local franchise to the Central Illinois Public Service Company.

Counter statistics were presented by Howard Ellerman of the local branch of the Central Illinois Public Service Company, and the motion to grant the franchise was made later and carried.

The franchise contains certain limitations. The natural gas must be in the city and the project operative within three years of the granting of the franchise. In the event of failure to get the gas into the city within the time stipulated, the franchise will become void so far as the natural gas is concerned, but the franchise relative to electricity will revert to the old franchise which terminates in 1973.

In a recent statement at the Jerseyville Rotary Club, it was indicated by Ellerman that the Central Illinois Public Service Company expected to have the pipe lines from Alsey into Jerseyville and distribution lines in the municipality complete within a two year period.

The service company proposes to tap the main Panhandle gas line at a point near Alsey, Ill., for supplying the Jerseyville demand.

WHEREABOUTS OF SANDY'S PIG IS CAFE MYSTERY

JERSEYVILLE—Somebody stole Sandy's Pig during the rush hours of 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesday and every effort is being made to find the bank which has been a familiar centerpiece of the "Lars Table" at Sandy's Cafe in Jerseyville for a long time.

The big table at the rear of the cafe where certain of the cafe customers meet each day and "swap tales" had been designated the "Lars Table" because of the tall stories told when these good friends meet. A large china pig was placed in the center of the table where "coffee money" was deposited by the guests. Evidently some stranger visited the cafe Tuesday and became attached to the pig or its contents and took it with them when they left. The bank is large and was evidently carried away in a bag or other container. Sandy's Cafe is operated by Mrs. Eileen Sandberg.

Loot ranging from cash to ham and potato salad was stolen Wednesday night from three Jacksonville business establishments, with an unsuccessful attempt at one place to pry open the safe.

Two of the break-ins were discovered by police before midnight when officers pulled up in patrol cars and found shattered glass in a window and door.

The first burglary was discovered by Sgt. William Quinlan at 11:26 p.m., at Wides Oil Co., 640 North Main street, where a window was broken to gain entrance. The sum of $182 was stolen from a sack in a desk drawer.

A few minutes later Sgt. Quinlan and Patrolman Williams found that the glass had been smashed in the door of the Dunlap Court Beverage Shop, where chisel marks were in evidence on the safe. The burglar worked in vain, however, as the safe door held firmly.

The burglar did not leave without loot, however, as $50 was removed from the cash register. To top off his visit the prowler took a fifth of James E. Beam whisky. At 6:15 a.m. the police received a call that the Julieanne Cafe on Dunlap Court had been entered sometime during the night. Ham and potato salad were taken, but no money had been left in the cafe.

Hold Teen-Agers After Car Theft In Calhoun Co.

JERSEYVILLE—Four teen age youths of the Grafton vicinity were brought to the Jersey county jail Tuesday evening by Calhoun county officers for safe keeping and questioning here Wednesday morning regarding the theft of an automobile at Hardin Saturday night.

The car belonged to James Smith of Hardin was stolen from his parking place and was later recovered in the vicinity of Louisiana, Mo., where it had been abandoned. The car had a considerable quantity of Diesel oil in cans in it at the time of its abandonment.

The four were also being questioned regarding break-in early Sunday morning at the Major Service Station in Grafton. In that city, burglars gained entrance by smashing a rear window and entering the Major Service Station. There they broke into the inside office and carried away a cash compartment from the cash register of the office. The compartment contained from 18 to 20 dollars in change.

Witnesses have told the Jersey county officers that they saw two subjects running from behind the Major Station and joining two others who had been checking the engine of their car in front of the place some time about 1 a.m. Sunday.

F.B.I. representatives were here Wednesday morning quizzing the four picked up by Calhoun authorities. Members of the Illinois Bureau of Criminal Identification were also here Wednesday morning for the purpose of giving polygraph tests to several parties being held here. The four held on the Hardin car theft had refused to take a lie detector test.

Counties Team With Townships In Election Cost

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Counties and townships may enter into agreements to share expenses in an effort to save money in the April election, Atty. Gen. William G. Clark has ruled.

The same ballot box may be used for ballots cast in the election of justices of the peace and constables and those ballots cast in township elections where the same judges are in charge of both elections, Clark said Wednesday.

State's Atty. Ralph S. Pearman of Edgar County told Clark that Edgar County election judges are paid $15 a day while Paris Township pays an election judge only $10 a day.

Clark's opinion said there is no law covering sharing of such expenses but the current Illinois Legislature might be asked to enact such a law.

In an opinion to State's Atty. Darrell E. Klink of Logan County, Clark said Illinois county clerks are not entitled to be paid any fee for extending county taxes.

In another opinion, Clark held that real estate taxes paid under protest can be distributed to the taxing bodies entitled to them without interest.

However, Clark told State's Atty. Robert H. Erd of Monroe County that personal property taxes paid under protest must be retained by the county collector until they have been adjudicated by the court.

Clark also held that a county board has authority to limit use of private automobiles of the sheriff and deputy sheriff to performance of their duties.

Clark told State's Atty. Kenneth Peek of Perry County that mileage fees for officers very but such fees fixed by statute cannot be changed by a county board.

Groundhog Slumbers On; Weather Wasn't 'Fittin'

The Groundhog, widely heralded for his psychic powers when weather is concerned, goofed off in a display of temperament in Morgan county Thursday.

He stubbornly refused to come out of his den because, as the old-timers used to say, the weather wasn't "fittin'."

With the temperature down to 15 above zero Thursday morning, Feb. 2, commonly hailed as Groundhog Day, brought a brisk snow and penetrating wind.

Customarily the Groundhog would have peeked out cautiously for a preliminary look. Sunshine would have induced the wise little varmint to dodge back into his hole for another six weeks' leisure and relaxation. Cloudy skies would have meant, according to legend, that he remained outside his den—with six weeks of winter chopped off automatically.

But last year the Groundhog failed to see his shadow, after which the Jacksonville area got one of the biggest winter packages in history. It began snowing Feb. 20, with a total snowfall of 44 inches before the balmy breezes of spring arrived.

Perhaps that is why he exhibited contempt for his duties Thursday. He didn't even venture out to see whether the sun was shining, or not. Perhaps he was shuning over the debacle of 1960.

Believers in the Groundhog theory of forecasting weather were willing to concede that it wasn't a "fittin'" day to be out-of-doors, anyway.

State Police reports indicate an auto driven by Claude Frazier, 45, of Springfield skidded on the snow-packed highway going down the hill when the Launer auto struck the Frazier auto broadside. Frazier suffered minor bruises in the crash.

Both autos were towed from the scene by wreckers. Both autos were headed west at the time of the accident.

State Troopers attended at the scene of the accident.

Organize Your Reading To Improve On Grades

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D., with HARRY KARNES

The secret of successful reading lies not merely in repetition. Successful reading must have aim and organization.

We touched on that once before. Let's go a bit further and look at some helpful ways of reading in various fields of study.

Since the formula that works for reading about one subject does not always work in reading about another, we will discuss groups of subjects separately.

Books on economics and related courses scare most students stiff, so let's talk about that area first.

Let's suppose you have been assigned a chapter for tomorrow's class. Follow these steps:

1. Pick up the book. Break it open to the table of contents. Find the chapter and turn to it.

2. Skim. Read the first paragraph. Leaf through and glance at subtitles. Read the concluding paragraph. This should give you an idea of the big idea of the chapter.

3. With that idea in mind, read the chapter. At the end of each paragraph or two pause and ask yourself:

"What was said?" "How does it fit in the general pattern?"

If you can't answer these questions, it means that you went through the process of reading words without absorbing the ideas. Speed up your reading of the remaining paragraphs, remembering an axiom mentioned previously—that speed and accuracy go together. When you get to the point where you can recite back the main idea of the paragraph you have just read, you have reached an efficient speed. Maintain that speed.

Send for the booklet NOW!

4. Finish the chapter, then re-read it with the aim of refining the material. Read now with the continuous question in mind: "Exactly what is said here?"

The Key to Successful Reading

Make an Outline

Get the precise meaning. Relate it to some part of the big idea. This is the REAL key to success in the study of economics, marketing, and related subjects.

Make some sort of outline, in your own words, of what you have learned so you can review it.

Write it in a notebook, write it in the margin of the book, but write it clearly and in an orderly manner somewhere so you can re-fresh your mind before exam time.

The techniques for reading for review before an exam, however, involve some other factors. We'll talk about them later in a chapter on getting ready for examinations. The above suggestions may sound time-consuming rather than time-saving. But if you will have faith and give them a fair trial, you will find that they do work and that they do save time.

Tom came to us with a familiar tale of woe. He told us it was his habit to read his economics lesson three or four times. He went through and underlined what he thought were the most important sentences. Just before tests, he outlined the materials in each chapter. The results of all this work was a grade no higher than "C." We agreed that it wasn't enough reward for so big an effort.

Tom's trouble was that his readings followed an identical process that brought nothing new to light. His underlinings left the author's ideas in the author's own words, robbing Tom of the illuminating experience of expressing the idea for himself.

We suggested certain improvements in reading habits: Read to get the big picture; read again to fit the picture together; read again for minute detail. And we asked:

"Tom, do you ever talk to yourself?"

"Oh, no sir," said Tom.

"You need to start talking to yourself—and answering yourself."

Making the Brain Work

It's a popular notion that someone who talks with himself is off his rocker. Actually, it's a habit which, consciously and purposefully employed, can help you clarify your thoughts. Talking to yourself forces the brain to digest an idea. If you cannot put it into words, you don't understand it—or at least you won't be able to prove to the professor that you understand it. Verbal expression is the test of fire.

Tom, incidentally, turned his way up to an "A."

Courses such as physiology and anatomy require slightly different approaches from those used in reading economics.

Psychology, anatomy and science call for the learning of many names. The wise student works out a memory system. There are several good ones. We recommend a system by which you call up a mind picture when a word is heard or read.

Let's take an example. Suppose the word is aardvark. As words to that one hasn't much to recommend it. Most of us would just as soon forget it. But if you are a student and your biology teacher asks you to tell what an aardvark is, it suddenly becomes an important thing to remember.

One way to remember an aardvark is to form an exaggerated or caricatured picture of one. Johnny Hart, who draws the comic strip "B.C." frequently features an aardvark—an introverted, sad-eyed, long-nosed creature, commonly called an ant-eater, whose long extensible tongue goes "Zot!" as he laps up an insect.

You get the idea. Draw a mental picture of the word, and it will stay with you.

How can you ever forget aardvark after this? (TOMORROW: How to read literature and modern languages for greater meaning and better grades.)

Editorial Comment

A Few Lines On Deadlines

(From The Maywood (Ill.) Herald)

In any newspaper office, anywhere in the world, stories which arrive after the deadlines usually wind up as dead lines.

Strange as it may seem, editors who would have surrendered all their blue pencils and rubber cement for that one "hot" item might just as well consider it wrapping for their orange peels, should it arrive when the presses are running.

News contributors may find it difficult to understand why this is so, especially if the item is a timely one, of "extreme importance, flawless, written with a touch of mastery."

The editors, who must answer the telephone the day after publication and attempt to regain many friendships, are more than willing to make the situation understood to all.

It's inhuman, but newspaper people must succumb to the commands of the machine.

When the giant presses are told to get on their marks and go at 3 p.m., not much can be done to stop them.

Usually they're busier than people, waiting for one publication after another.

Hence, the reason that everything is timed to the minute.

Late copy, therefore, must wait until a later date; or, if it's a timely item, it has no other course but to join the waste for the trip to the city dump, be it a masterful, important piece or not.

Looking at it in a more positive manner, observance of a deadline is insuring publication of an article.

However, if a deadline is set at 5 p.m., that does not mean all copy should arrive at 5 p.m. Heavens! That simply is the time after which nothing else may be accepted.

The earlier that publication material is placed on the news desks, the better.

And it most likely will read better in print, because editors and rewriters, being naturally less weary, tackle it with a phenomenal enthusiasm, an eagerness hard to restrain!

It is sometimes hard for newspaper people to understand why so many don't understand newspaper people. Actually, a newspaper office is much like any other office or business establishment.

When a grocery store closes at 6 p.m., shoppers who arrive late and find it closed know they don't have anyone to blame but themselves. They know they either have to do without the pot roast or come back tomorrow.

And where newspapers are concerned, that's the whole story in a pea's pod.

Somewhat Safer

When all the figures are in, 1960 may be the safest year in history, percentage-wise. About 92,000 persons died in accidents, says the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. This was about the same as 1959, but when allowance is made for population increase, the rate is slightly lower.

Motor vehicles were responsible for the deaths of 38,000, a few hundred more than in 1959. But since number of miles traveled was up, the rate may be an all-time low.

Accidents around the home took 26,500 lives, up 500. Deaths in public accidents other than traffic continued about the same level—16,500—as did fatal work accidents—13,800.

All of which seems to indicate that safety campaigns are paying off, at least in some categories.

Common Cold Becomes 'Secret Weapon' In Office Circles

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The chances are better than even that if you live in a city and work in an office, you have had a cold this winter and perhaps have one right now.

There are two types of cold: The common cold. This is the kind everyone else gets.

The uncommon cold. This is the kind you get.

Few hospitals, however, can make in pure human drama the antics of the creatures in the office who when the sneezing season gets under way. Here are a few familiar victims you can probably spot in your own firm:

The panic button pusher—At the first sign of a sniffle, he screams, "It's probably another flu epidemic like the one in 1918. I think the Russians are spreading it secretly." He tries to get everyone to sign a petition demanding that the whole place be disinfectant.

Camille as the typewriter—The pretty secretary figures that if she can make her cough sound properly hollow and racking, the boss will give her the day off—which will give her a chance to see an afternoon movie, or catch up on her shopping.

The braggart—"You got a little cold?" he says. "What are you complaining about? I've got sinus trouble, gripe, bronchitis and swollen tonsils to say nothing about my ulcers. They're kicking up again, too."

The hypochondriac—Whenever anyone in the office comes in with a new cold, he gets a new one, too.

The indignant moralist—"If half the money this country spends on tobacco was spent on scientific research, they could lick the problem of the common cold in a year," he yells, then adds as an afterthought, "By the way, could you lend me a cigarette? I'm fresh out."

The fatalist—"What's the use of buying medicine?" he growls. He makes out his will—and waits to see if he'll die or get better.

The glutton—"Feed a cold and starve a fever!" is his motto.

The hairy-chested chirper—"It's all in the imagination," he growls. "I never had a cold in my life."

Then word spreads that he must be a virus carrier, and behind his back everyone calls him "Typhoid Harry."

The boss—The thoughtful company physician taps him on the chest and says, "Chief, it might be just a simple cold, but it could turn into a case of walking pneumonia. I think you'd better take a month off in Florida—and maybe I'd better go along to check you. We wouldn't want this to get any worse, would we?"

That's the kind of common cold to get—if you can afford it.

matter of FACT

Just 113 years ago Jan. 24, John Marshall looked into a creek in California and found gold. He was building a mill for John Sutter when his discovery started the California gold rush. Sutter almost had a good thing—but he couldn't keep it quiet. People swarmed over his land and panned his gold. Sutter got very little from the rich find and was finally given a pension by the legislature.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

Second of three articles on Brando in Tahiti.

PAPEETE, Tahiti (AP)—How does Marlon Brando live in Tahiti? The same as he does in Hollywood—by his lonesome.

Brando is one of the noted individualists of our time, and he is maintaining that reputation here in the South Seas.

He lives a few miles out of town in a thatched house, open to the elements like most dwellings on the island. The house is on the palm-lined shore of the lagoon surrounding Tahiti. Nearby is another house where lives Bob Hoeking, Brando's friend since childhood and dialogue director for "Mutiny on the Bounty."

There is another house for servants.

He mingles with other movie makers on the location. That does not mean he is aloof. Before the film started two months ago, he opened his home to 200 of the film company and greeted each with geniality at the door. The party cost him $2,000.

He is friendly but not chummy with the largely English cast for the "Bounty" saga. Aboard ship he occasionally plays chess with Tim Seeley, who has the part created by Franchot Tone. But much of the time he is closeted in his room below deck.

He reads: "I could have financed a small picture company with the cost of bringing my books out here by air," he commented. What does he read? "A lot of Dylan Thomas lately; he was a real character. Also I've been reading some Nietzsche. I don't know much about philosophy, but he seems rare—a real, biting satire."

He reads much poetry aloud. He keeps up with world news by having the Sunday New York Times (30 cents) air mailed to him for $28 a copy. He is interested in news of the new Kennedy administration.

It's not all work and study for Marlon. He is frequently seen in the local night spots, sometimes dancing spiritedly in bare feet. He is never at a loss for female companionship.

On New Year's Eve, he hired one of the island's rattle-trap buses and filled it with 15 of the native girls who dance in the movie. They circled the island singing Tahitian songs with great gaiety.

He goes skin diving and water skiing, but refrains from fishing; he doesn't believe in killing animals except when necessary.

Theoretically, Brando is only a paid actor on the picture. In practice, it works otherwise. He is consulted on all policy matters. And his desires are always carried out. When he wants changes made in the script, they are made. This does not always set too well with the other actors.

Brando in Tahiti is different from the guarded, suspicious star in Hollywood. Here he will strip down and race into the surf to ride waves with natives, other "Mutiny" workers and a visiting reporter. I am able to report this: He is a better actor than wave rider.

My mail is filled with requests to "please write something about the menopause."

"It's such a difficult time for me and for millions of other women," writes a correspondent.

To begin with, let me explain what the menopause is and how it comes about. Then, we'll discuss your approach to its problems.

The menopause is nature's way of limiting the child-bearing capacity of the woman. It is a completely normal phenomenon, so please be relaxed about it.

You enter the menopause when the pituitary regulator issues a "cease and desist" order to the ovaries. The ovaries then discontinue their production of ripe eggs and this, in turn, puts a stop to periodic bleedings from the uterine nest.

A few minor discomforts frequently accompany these changes. Usually they consist of brief flushing, chilling, sweating and various manifestations of nervousness.

How you do a favor for someone else is often more important than what you do.

When you offer to take a friend who has no car to a party to which you are both invited, do you wait until the last minute and call up to ask: "Do you have a ride?" Or do you call the day before and say, "How about our going to the party together?" One sounds as though you are doing your good turn for the day. The other sounds as though you really want the friend's company.

When you help out a friend, do you keep still about it? Or do you tell everyone you know how you pitched in to help—so that you will get full credit for whatever you have done?

When you go to a great deal of trouble to do a favor for a friend, do you let the friend know exactly how much trouble you went to on his behalf? Or do you make light of what you have done, so that he won't feel so deeply obligated?

When, out of kindness, you voluntarily spend time with a bore because you feel sorry for him, do you do so graciously—that is, quietly? Or do you groan to others about what a trial it is to spend time with anyone so dull?

When you help someone out of a bad spot, do you let the matter drop once it is over? Or do you keep bringing it up to the person who would probably like to forget the matter?

When you have volunteered to do a favor that proves more trouble than you thought it would be, do you keep your good nature and see it through cheerfully? Or do you begin to complain because you have bitten off more than you want to chew?

In whatever you do for others, the gracious way you do it counts for as much as the good deed itself.

How you do a favor for someone else is often more important than what you do.

When you offer to take a friend who has no car to a party to which you are both invited, do you wait until the last minute and call up to ask: "Do you have a ride?" Or do you call the day before and say, "How about our going to the party together?" One sounds as though you are doing your good turn for the day. The other sounds as though you really want the friend's company.

When you help out a friend, do you keep still about it? Or do you tell everyone you know how you pitched in to help—so that you will get full credit for whatever you have done?

When you go to a great deal of trouble to do a favor for a friend, do you let the friend know exactly how much trouble you went to on his behalf? Or do you make light of what you have done, so that he won't feel so deeply obligated?

When, out of kindness, you voluntarily spend time with a bore because you feel sorry for him, do you do so graciously—that is, quietly? Or do you groan to others about what a trial it is to spend time with anyone so dull?

When you help someone out of a bad spot, do you let the matter drop once it is over? Or do you keep bringing it up to the person who would probably like to forget the matter?

When you have volunteered to do a favor that proves more trouble than you thought it would be, do you keep your good nature and see it through cheerfully? Or do you begin to complain because you have bitten off more than you want to chew?

In whatever you do for others, the gracious way you do it counts for as much as the good deed itself.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's televised news conferences—with the second coming today—could become a tremendous lobby for him.

1. From coast to coast he will reach various groups affected by his programs and by so doing stimulate them into pressuring Congress for action.

2. He will, to a degree never achieved by any other president, keep himself in the public mind.

He could, of course, manufacture disaster by pulling some prize boners in national view. He seems confident that he won't.

Washington is full of lobbyists paid by pressure groups to work on Congress for or against something.

Presidents from time to time have done their own lobbying.

Presidents Roosevelt, Truman, Eisenhower took to the airways when they had an explanation to make or sought public support.

But these were only occasional performances in special situations.

True, Eisenhower's news conferences also were televised, but they were shown later and then only in fragments.

Kennedy, with live TV appearances at every news conference, could make his three predecessors' efforts on behalf of themselves look meager.

Kennedy won't have to make any appeal. His answers to reporters' questions will include his ideas, proposals and programs.

Since at any one conference he will cover a varied field, his answers will have special interest to various affected groups.

For example, his proposals on a medical care plan for the aged will get the acute attention of older people.

He doesn't have to look at them through the camera and say, "I wish you'd back me."

His statement of the proposal—and perhaps an indication he is having trouble getting Congress to go along—will be impetus enough for a lot of people to act after Congress.

From a political standpoint—provided Kennedy doesn't make big blunders—the live TV news conferences should be of inestimable help to him.

He was a great unknown to most Americans when he began the presidential campaign. Vice President Richard M. Nixon was a widely known public figure with eight years to put himself in the public mind.

Nothing in the whole campaign did so much to shove Kennedy into the public consciousness as his TV debates with Nixon.

It is public consciousness of him should increase beyond measure in four years of appearing weekly more or less, on TV screens from coast to coast.

If he wants to run again in 1964, he'll have a firm foundation.

EDSON IN WASHINGTON

BY PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA)—There were a few changes in United States foreign and domestic policies revealed by President John F. Kennedy in his first news conference, but not many.

In summary, after a mere five days in office, the new President appears to be aggressive but cautiously feeling his way. He is no wild radical as some opponents predicted he would be.

Although former President Eisenhower had made release of the two RB-47 pilots a condition to further conferences with the Russians, President Kennedy says their return to America does not mean he is committed to talk with Khrushchev.

Actually, Kennedy did nothing to get the U.S. fliers released. He sent no new ambassador to Moscow. Khrushchev ordered the release on his own initiative, to show that he wanted better relations with the United States.

This is no indication that the international situation has greatly improved overnight. The President admits that tensions are still quite high.

Relations with Cuba are unchanged, though the welfare of the Cuban people and the introduction of foreign arms and ideologies on the island are of concern to the United States.

The new administration continues support for British efforts to reconstitute the international control commission to oversee conditions in Laos.

Eisenhower's order suspending U-2 flights over Soviet territory remains in effect unchanged.

What is new in all these situations is that diplomats under Secretary of State Dean Rusk are more actively trying to improve American foreign relations by quiet diplomacy.

It is a slight change in manner, not in policy. One effect is to parry foreign pressures for an early summit meeting.

The request for a delay in the Geneva conference on suspension of nuclear weapons testing does not yet represent a change in policy—only a change in timing. This problem is being given more careful study along with general disarmament by the advisory commission under John J. McCloy.

The "Food for Peace" program has been made more aggressively effective. Relief shipments to the Congo are being stepped up immediately to support U.N. stabilization efforts in that country.

And even though the Communist Chinese have not asked for food aid and may not need it, the President says the United States would consider carefully proposals to ship food to Red China, "if people's lives are at stake."

On the domestic front, the new administration will use food more aggressively to combat distress from unemployment, to the extent that "Section 22" funds from U.S. customs permit.

The President does indicate more changes coming up. There will be special messages on greater aid for the unemployed, improvement of the United States economy, how to deal with America's declining balance of payments and the outflow of gold—without bringing back the families of United States servicemen stationed abroad.

All this will be new and probably different. So the President's statement that no decision has yet been made on increasing Eisenhower's $80 billion dollar budget for next year must be taken with a large grain of salt.

Kennedy appears to be following the Eisenhower policy of noninterference with Congress in determining its own procedures, as in the proposal to change the House Rules Committee. The President will also follow the Eisenhower policy of keeping the vice president fully prepared to assume the responsibilities of chief executive in an emergency.

The new President indicates he will be more vigorous in enforcement of civil rights, particularly the right to vote. But on electoral college reform he is ready to back only moderate election law changes.

Kennedy appears to be more willing than his predecessor to make information held by his executive agencies available to Congressional committees and the public. The only limitation is that there be no release of national security information.

Unless the free world can both produce and share prosperity, it cannot expect to claim convincingly that its way of life is superior to communism.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain.

Don't let your wife put you to work when you get home from your own work. I always headed for the sofa and lots of rest.

Cosmo Bataglia, 100, of Chicago, giving his formula for long life.

If the quest for world peace is lost, it is likely to happen in the continent of Africa. It is ironic that a continent and a people scarcely known a few years ago should now come to dominate world affairs and the issue of peace.

Expect Macmillan To Confer With Kennedy In March

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan Wednesday night was reported almost certain to fly to Washington next month for talks with President Kennedy as a concerted western policy for banning nuclear tests.

British official sources said no date has been set but that Macmillan probably will go in the latter half of March.

Diplomatic circles in London have been buzzing with rumors that Macmillan might advance the date of his Washington visit in order to see Kennedy before Soviet Premier Khrushchev has a chance to edge in ahead.

Observers believe Khrushchev may try for an early meeting with Kennedy by showing up in New York when the U.N. General Assembly reopens March 7.

Adding lemon juice, vinegar or tart apple to red cabbage when you are cooking this vegetable helps to retain good color.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at St. John's Catholic church, with burial in Carrollton city cemetery.

The clinic meetings are held in the evenings and the hearings during the day in this area.

Killebrew stated that a Hearing Officer is actually the Appellate Court for hearings on Driver's and Chaffers' licenses which may be revoked or put on a probationary status. He stated that during World War II, driver's licenses were used mainly for identification but since that time they are used more for control violations, etc. The speaker noted that there are five million driver's licenses issued in this state and four million vehicles licensed in Illinois.

He said that the State turned over to the University of Illinois the task of revising the rules and regulations concerning driving and that they gave the people the point system for traffic violations. It is through these points that a person's outcome by a Hearing Officer is decided.

When someone's license is about to be revoked and they apply because of a hardship deal whereby their livelihood depends upon their license then the Director of Driver's Improvement Clinic assists them. Mr. Killebrew concluded by saying that only a small percentage of those persons who had attended such schools ever had a record of violations again.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Now the banks are going in for marketing research. They want to know what makes their customers tick. Above all they want more customers. And they want more business from old or potential ones. Competition to lure both savers and borrowers is growing. So the American Bankers Association is out today with a how-to manual. Its aim: To tell banks, big and small, how to find out what's wrong, if anything, with their present market and how to increase it.

This is an age of consumer research. Your motives, prejudices and buying habits are dissected and then put back into a pattern intended to be profitable for this or that industry. Banks are now turning to the technique of the day. Their battle to attract and handle more customers is spurred by great growths of such competitors as savings and loan associations and credit unions, and by such special investing fields as mutual funds, the stock market, variable annuities, various forms of insurance, and U.S. savings bonds.

The ABA's new research manual would show each of the nation's 14,000 banks how to assess changes in its own position in the competitive race and then to find out what its customers are like, what they want, why they are going elsewhere with their savings or to borrow, and how they can be brought back.

The association has been trying out its manual in some areas and here are a few examples of what some banks have discovered about themselves.

A serious age problem showed up at one midwest bank—not among the top brass, as you might expect, but among the customers. It found 6 out of 10 of its checking accounts were held by persons 55 or older and representing 60 per cent of total demand deposits. Management got busy with a school savings plan, a campaign among more youthful adults and a remodeling job on its quarters to appeal to younger tastes.

A Missouri bank found a disturbing income bracket change. Once it enjoyed business from people in all brackets, occupations and locations. Now its customers are predominantly lower income workers, both white and blue collar. As a result, the bank is ringing doorbells in those parts of town where its business has been slipping and also wooing the more affluent.

The ABA says some of the banks' difficulties come from their growth itself. Banks have zoomed right along, especially since World War II. Many now count their customers in thousands where once they did in hundreds. Gone is much of the old time personal touch. Customers don't know their bankers. And the bankers don't know their customers—and more important, no longer know everything about the customer's business that a bank once did.

To get back some of this personal touch—on a group basis at least, if not individually—the ABA experts are turning to the modern technique of customer research. If it's the thing in other businesses, why not in banking?

To Whip... That's Britain's Question

Or Not To Whip...

By TOM CULLEN
Written For NEA
LONDON—(NEA)—“To whip or not to whip.” That is the judicial question hanging over Britain’s head today.
The question slashes across political party and economic class lines. Ever since Britain abolished such corporal punishment as a court sentence in 1948, there has been a persistent demand that it be re-introduced as a penalty for youthful offenders.

At the annual Conservative party conference, cries of “bring back the cat” (cat-o-nine-tails) were heard. “Don’t let us be over-sentimental, motherly and woolly about this thing,” one delegate said. A Conservative mother repeated her 19-year-old son’s advice for dealing with teen-age thugs: “Beat ‘em, Mum. They don’t like it and they won’t come back for more.”

Home Secretary R. A. (Rab) Butler, a Conservative, opposes cracking the whip again. His 16-man Advisory Council on the Treatment of Offenders dealt a severe blow to the flogging advocates. In a report, the council unanimously recommended that “corporal punishment should not be re-introduced as a judicial penalty in respect of any categories of offenses or offenders.” To do so “would mean putting the clock back a hundred years.”

“There is no evidence that corporal punishment is an especially effective deterrent either to those who have received it or to others.” Although it might succeed as a crime deterrent in some cases, “the same could be said of many forms of drastic and severe punishment which have long since been abolished as affronting the conscience of a civilized community.”

But Sir Thomas Moore, who leads the pro-flogging faction in the House of Commons, said the report “gives the green light to young thugs to go ahead with their rapes and other violent crimes.”

A recent Gallup poll found 78 per cent of the public favoring a return to corporal punishment for crimes of violence. About 77 per cent of the 3,500 letters to the advisory council supported the poll finding.

Until corporal punishment was abolished, judges could prescribe its use on males convicted as “incorrigible rogues,” and those found guilty of shooting at the Sovereign, irregular horse slaughter, living on immoral earnings or robbery with violence.

In practice, such punishment was inflicted in only a small proportion of cases on those committing robbery with violence.

The birch, a bundle of twigs (switches) varying in size according to the offender’s age, or the cat, nine lengths of whipcord 33 inches long attached to a small wooden handle, could be used.

Prisoners to be birched were strapped to easel-like affairs, known as “the triangle,” bent over pads between the front legs of the triangle and whipped across their bare buttocks.

Those flogged were strapped to the upper part of the triangle, hands above their heads, necks and loins protected from misplaced strokes by leather collars and belts, and beaten across their backs.

In both cases, the prisoners were prevented from seeing the administering officers by canvas sheets placed between them. Medical officers, watching the prisoners’ faces, could stop the punishment at any time.

Greenfield To Fill Vacancies On School Board

GREENFIELD — The annual school board election for the Greenfield Community Unit District will be held Saturday, April 8.
Those whose terms expire are: president, Clyde Land; secretary, Basil Price and Dr. James M. Downard. Holdover directors are Mrs. Robert Ford, Thomas Ballard, Billy Pembroke and James T. Nash. First day for filing nominating petitions is Feb. 22 and the last day is March 18.

It is not known whether any of the three members whose terms expire will seek re-election.

Winter Concert
Under the direction of Jerome Rubie, unit school band director, the school band presented its annual winter concert Saturday evening in the high school auditorium before a large audience of school friends and patrons.

A representative of the Office of Secretary of State gave the official drivers test to all who were qualified to take it. Due to the fine driver education program in the high school, it is very seldom that all who are qualified do not pass their test the first time it is taken.

The senior class will sponsor a Sack Hop following the basketball game Friday night and the sophomores will sponsor the one following the basketball game Saturday evening.

Polo Fund Drive
Richard K. Wilhite, Greenfield chairman of the annual drive of the National Polo Foundation announces that mailers have been sent in the rural areas, Mrs. Harold Ford, Mrs. Richard Cole, Mrs. Mary Melvin, Mrs. William Meng, Mrs. Thomas Ford and Mrs. Frank Reed, representing the American Legion Auxiliary have made a canvass for funds in the interest of the Mother’s March on Polo, which amounted to $110.48. Reports of the rural areas and from the schools are not available.

A science club for junior high age boys is being organized under the leadership of Mrs. Howard Houlette. Regular meetings are held on Saturday at 2 p.m.

IDA Meets
A meeting of the Greenfield Industrial Development Association was held Monday evening in the fire house, with President Charles E. Burroughs presiding.

There were discussions in regards to the past Christmas decorations in the business district and merchants drawings and what improvements can be made for future lighting and merchant awards. Report was made that all bills were paid and a small balance remained.

There was much discussion in regards to the mail service in and out of the local postoffice, since the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy passenger trains No. 47 and 48, stopped operating Jan. 14. Mail is trucked into Greenfield at the present time once a day, six times a week at 6:30 a.m. And outgoing mail by truck once a day at night, six days per week. From Saturday morning until Monday morning, no mail arrives and from Saturday night until Monday night, no mail leaves Greenfield. President Burroughs appointed Postmaster Eloise Barton, William R. Stringer and J. Russell Shields to confer with the proper postal authorities to see if Greenfield could secure better service for incoming and outgoing mail.

Kramer Claims Pros May Not Like Interference

NEW YORK (AP)—If the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association attempts to take the professionals under its wing it may run into some opposition from the pros themselves, Jack Kramer said Wednesday.

"I feel certain the pros will want to keep some voice in their own affairs," the promoter added, in commenting on the latest suggestion before the ruling body of the sport.

Ralph Westcott of Chicago, chairman of the USLTA Research and Planning Committee, has proposed that the association drop the word "amateur" from its by-laws and become the ruling force of all tennis players, pro and amateur alike.

"Personally, I have no control on the players once they have fulfilled terms of our contracts," Kramer said. "But I am sure the boys are anxious to maintain their association and to keep some say in tournaments other than the big open championships."

Kramer said it is his feeling that tennis would profit most from a setup similar to that existing in golf.

Let the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association continue primarily as an amateur body but give it control over the open championships, as they do in golf," the Los Angeles court impresario said. "In the case of all other tournaments, the pros should be permitted a chance to dictate terms and assist in the organization."

Hemus' Chief Aim Is To Keep Hurling Corps Off To A Fast Start

HOUSTON, Tex. (P) — My chief aim right now is to get the pitching staff in shape for a good start once the season gets under way. If we do that, I think the Cardinals will make a stronger run for the pennant than last year when we finished third.

Some of our pitchers started off poorly in 1960. In addition, Bob Miller had to undergo an operation and was lost for almost the whole season. This was one of the big reasons why the St. Louis club remained in the second division for almost the first three months.

We were fortunate in signing Curt Simmons and bringing up Ray Sadecki from the minors. They'll be back again and together with Ernie Broglio, Larry Jackson, Al Cicotte and Lindy McDaniel give us a pitching staff with plenty of depth.

I also feel that we will have more hitting. Don Landrum, who came to us from the International League late in the year, showed flashes of being a fine leadoff man and an excellent defensive outfielder. In fact, we have a wealth of talent in the outfield with Stan Musial, Walt Moryn, Bob Nieman, Joe Cunningham, young Charley James and Curt Flood.

The infield looks set with Bill White at first, Julian Javier at second, Darryl Spencer at short and Ken Boyer at third.

Hal Smith will handle the catching. He'll be backed up by Carl Sawatski and one of two rookies, Chris Cannizzaro or Tim McCarver.

The team to beat in the National League is Pittsburgh. The Pirates definitely helped their club by getting Bobby Shantz from the Yankees. Milwaukee is always dangerous. I've always felt that San Francisco has more stars than most clubs and Alvin Dark, the new manager, figures to make them work together.

Japan Has To Fork Over Some Money For Stanka

CHICAGO (P)—If Japan's Nankai Hawks of Osaka want to keep pitcher Joe Stanka, a fugitive from the Chicago White Sox, they'll have to fork over some yen or some Nipponese baseball talent.

That was the word Wednesday from Sox president Bill Veeck after Stanka reported in Tokyo he was all set to play a second Japanese season with the blessing of Japan's baseball commissioner, Noboru Inoue.

The 6-5 Stanka, still adjudged White Sox property by Commissioner Ford Frick, emerged from a day-long session with Inoue, and said:

"The commissioner (Japan's) said it was all right for me to stay and I'm staying. As far as I'm concerned, any beef with the White Sox is ended."

Veeck took a dim view of Stanka's pronouncement.

"We still have an investment in Stanka," said Veeck. "As we told the people in Tokyo before, we're willing to sell his contract or discuss trading him for Japanese talent. Right now, it's pretty expensive rental for us."

Frick indicated Tuesday that if Stanka insists on jumping his White Sox contract, U.S. players may be banned from touring in Japan.

It took the White Sox a long time to catch up with Stanka, whom they purchased from Sacramento for $25,000 late in 1959 and then placed on the restricted list when he said he intended to enter private business last year. A few weeks ago, the Sox sent a 1961 contract to Stanka at his last known address, Ponca City, Okla. It went unanswered.

Stanka, a 6 - 5 right - hander, charged the Sox were using him as a "tool" to get Japanese players. Veeck said today: "We don't want publicity, we want a return on our investment in Stanka."

Tennessee A&I Is Still No. 1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tennessee State is still the No. 1 team among the nation's small colleges, but its position appears in some jeopardy.

Since taking nine of the ten first place votes this week in the Associated Press poll, the Negro college has dropped their second game of the campaign—a 91-88 loss to Southern Illinois.

Prarie View, meanwhile, moved into second place on its perfect record of 16 victories and no defeats. Tennessee State has an 18-2 mark.

Prarie View replaced Hofstra in second place with the Hampden, N.Y. team falling to fourth behind Mississippi Southern, which has won 15 of its 16 games. Southern Illinois (14-3) is fifth.

Completing the top ten in the weekly poll of a special cross-country panel of sports writers and broadcasters were: Grinnell, Westminster (Pa.), Maine, American University and Kentucky Wesleyan.

The leaders with first place votes and won-lost records in parentheses:

1. Tennessee State (9) (18-2) 99
2. Prairie View (16-0) 79
3. Mississippi Southern (16-1) 63
4. Hofstra (18-3) 66
5. Southern Illinois (14-3) 60
6. Grinnell (18-2) 58
7. Westminster, Pa. (11-2) 53
8. Maine (1) (1-3) 24
9. American University (13-3) 13

WANTS TEST WITH THOMAS

NEW YORK (P) — The Soviet Union's Valeriy Brumel, who is credited with a 7 foot, 4 1/2 inch high jump, is definitely coming to the United States to match legs with America's John Thomas.

Dan Ferris, Amateur Athletic Union executive, said Wednesday he had received confirmation that a Soviet team, including Brumel, will arrive here Feb. 14 for a series of indoor meets.

BRADLEY HURT BY GRADES

PEORIA, Ill. (P)—Bradley University, No. 3 team in the AP's national basketball poll, lost a promising sophomore and five freshmen because of scholastic ineligibility. It was disclosed Wednesday. The player lost from the varsity was Hayden Johnson, a sophomore.

SPENCER OKAYS TERMS

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Darryl Spencer, slugging shortstop of the St. Louis Cardinals, signed his contract Wednesday, then denied again that he is chiefly an early season hitter.

The 31-year-old native of Wichita, Kan., said he knew the figures showed he often hit better in the first half of the season. He said, "I felt just as strong the last half, but it seemed the ball wasn't falling in as often."

Youngest son to get a hole-in-one in 1960 was Kenneth Vincent, 8, of Pittsburgh, Mass. He caddied the 145-yard seventh hole at the Westminster, Mass., Country Club.

Yanks Move To Crack Segregation Rule In Florida

NEW YORK (P) — The New York Yankees moved Wednesday to crack the segregation barrier at their St. Petersburg, Fla., baseball training camp and put all their players "under one roof."

"Howard, Lopes and Gonder mean as much to our ball club as any other ball players," said Dan Topping, Yankee president, in a formal statement, "and we would like very much to have the whole team under one roof."

The references were to the Negro players on the New York roster — catcher Elston Howard, outfielder Hester Lopes and rookie catcher Jesse Gonder — and a brilliant comeback in the final four minutes but time ran out on them. Steve Daniel threw in eight markers for the losers.

Wimbish, chapter president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said "It is time the management of the clubs take a hand in bringing an end to discrimination against Negro players."

In St. Louis, Bing Devine, the Cards' general manager, said, "We have a problem there. We recognize that it is highly desirable for all players to stay together, but we don't make the rules and regulations for the various localities."

Many Negro major league players are reported to be unhappy over conditions in Florida where they are barred from certain hotels and restaurants.

Howard was quoted by Milton Gross, columnist of the New York Post, as saying:

"I want to bring my family to training, just as the other Yankees, but I can't make plans until I get down there and see what kind of house I can rent. The other players can rent them from an agent in advance, but I can't. It's not pleasant."

The veteran Yankee catcher was reported en route to Florida from his Teaneck, N.J., home.

The Chicago Cubs, who train in Mesa, Ariz., said their players all stay in the same hotel and have had no trouble with segregation in the dining room or elsewhere. A Cub spokesman said he believes there is no segregation problem at other Arizona training sites.

DUKE GUARD QUITS SCHOOL

DURHAM, N. C. (P) — Duke's fourth-ranked basketball team suffered a blow Wednesday when it was announced starting guard Jack Mullen has withdrawn from school.

Duke's sports publicity office said the withdrawal was caused by academic deficiencies. Mullen, junior from Weymouth, Pa., served as playmaker for the Blue Devils, who have won 15 of 16 games this season.

WOOLFERT PLANS RETURN

SAN FRANCISCO (P) — Phil Woolpert, who coached University of San Francisco basketball teams to two NCAA championships and a national winning streak record of 60 games, said Wednesday he wants to return to coaching.

He quit at the University of San Francisco in November 1959 after a back injury failed to mend and he said he was nervous and highly irritable.

Woolpert said he has received tentative offers from two or three colleges but he declined to name them.

Milwaukee's Lew Burdette hit only five batters last season but one of his pitches broke the left wrist of Dick Groat, Pittsburgh shortstop.

Louis E. Wolfson's Harbor View Farm was the top money-winning stable in Maryland horse racing in 1960. The stable earned $120,000.

Turner, JHS Freshmen Gain Split At Quincy

QUINCY — Jonathan Turner's eighth grade quintet annexed its 12th win in 13 starts with a 32-19 victory but Coach Al Rosenberger's JHS Freshmen didn't fare so well as they suffered their third loss in 13 outings via a 38-32 defeat here Wednesday night in a twin-bill.

Turner led all the way and held Quincy to a pair of third quarter points and then five tallies in the final frame, and then the charity mark. Tom Andrews led Turner scoring with nine points.

PITTSBURGH (P) — Bill Mazeroski of the Pittsburgh Pirates calls his home run that won the seventh game of the 1960 World Series "the greatest thrill of my life."

Sports writers and broadcasters Wednesday selected the climactic clout, which defeated the New York Yankees and brought the world championship to Pittsburgh, as the sports thrill of the year in the annual Associated Press poll.

Participants in the poll cast 77 votes for the home run. The final World Series game, including a series of exciting events which preceded Maz's clincher, received 26 votes for second place. Third spot went to Floyd Patterson's fifth round knockout of Ingemar Johansson to regain the world's heavyweight title. It garnered 1

Illinois History Is Theme Of Strawn's Club

Miss Mary Margaret Wax entertained the Strawn's Crossing Woman's Club Tuesday at her home, 643 South West street. Mrs. J. W. Rawlings presided over the business meeting which opened with the pledge to the flag and the Lord's Prayer led by Mrs. Roy Newbery. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary.

Mrs. Albert Standish read a brief outline of the history of Illinois for the program. Roll call was answered by naming land marks of Illinois.

During the social hour delicious refreshments were served. Guests were Mrs. A. F. Koss, Jimmy and Rickart. The next meeting will be Feb. 14 at Hamilton's Cafe with Mrs. John Whelan as hostess.
